System Is Useless, Robinson Asserts, Joining Walker, Straus and Meyer in Vain Fight Against Confirming City Probers Denounced

Minority Blames Inquiry for Delay in Aiding Widows of Two Slain Detectives

ALBANY, Jan. 17.—Four members of the Senate, two Republicans and two Democrats, voted yesterday in New York in conference with heads of the film corporations and their counsel, going over the details of the organization with special reference to his own duties.

"I am here working out the details of a proposed organization looking to the betterment of the motion picture industry, and to the betterment of the product and results from a public point of view," he said. "This is in accordance with the views of the President, who is as desirous as any one that the great motion picture industry, with its educational possibilities, shall function in a manner to place it above criticism."

"It will take some little time to make a complete study of the situation and bring about an agreement concerning the details. I am glad to say that we are making good progress, and there is no doubt in my mind that at an early date I shall be able to make a definite announcement concerning our plans. There is no question about the potentiality of the motion picture as an aid to education and as an adjunct to up-lifting the thought of the world. The motion picture is as big as all outdoors, and I expect that the next real news that I announce about the matter will be a definite statement concerning plan and scope. That will be forthcoming soon."

Asked about the welfare work under way in the Postoffice Department, Mr. Hays said:

"There is a lot of it blocked out. There is a tremendous department, with its 325,000 employees. I wish to say right here and now that the response of the employees to the various plans laid down for the betterment of the service has been magnificent, reflecting the greatest credit upon the personnel. I met a postman to-day who stopped to shake hands, and he was kind enough to say that he was sorry that I was retiring from the service, as he feared it would mean a let-down in the working out of the plans which have engaged the co-operation and enthusiasm of the men and women in the service. I told him that there was enough new work blocked out to last three years and that I was going to co-operate in the working of it out, whether I am in or out of the department."

$2,055,978 Shipbuilding Plant Claim Is Heard by Board

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The Ship Construction and Trading Company of New York City, to-day began the presentation of its claim for $2,055,978 against the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation in the claims commission of the board. The sum is sought for depreciation and overhead costs of the company's ship building plant at Stonington, Conn., which was commandeered by the government during the war.

This claim, it was explained at the Shipping Board, is distinct from the legal proceedings instituted in the District Supreme Court recently to compel the board to accept the company's offer of $2,100 each for the wooden fleet. An answer to this suit, which is a mandamus action, will be filed with the court this week by the legal department of the board.

Senator Downing moved that copies of the Meyer committee report be sent to the families of the slain detectives. This will feed the hungry stomachs of the slain children," said Senator Downing. "Then they won't need any more."

The Straus bill was referred to committee in accordance to custom. Senator Straus also introduced a bill amending the law to her husband, to empower the Senate to appoint a committee to investigate the bill introduced by the Governor, to inquire into a departure in the official duties of the State Executive of public responsibilities.

Hays Says Harding Wants Films Above Criticism

Books were kept when there was no money

In Egypt of the Pharaohs money was unknown—but there were accountants.

Records kept by these "scribes" have been found, written on sheets of papyrus which were afterward used as wrappings for the mummies of crocodiles. These records show that careful accounts were kept of cattle, corn, dates, oil and other commodities.

Money made bookkeeping easier—and the final word in accounting is the use of modern Loose Leaf methods.

National Loose Leaf Devices and Supplies meet every modern office requirement. They provide you with up-to-date ways of systematizing your record-keeping and reducing your accounting costs.

Ask your stationer to show you our Royal Loose Leaf Ledger, Series 8100. Its chassis is the strongest made; its mechanical features include hinge lugs, bridge plates, bronze bearings and the National flat key. Cowhide and corduroy binding, ruled sheets of Yorkshire Ledger paper.

U.S. Plans Hospital Facilities for Care Of 32,000 Veterans

Brig. Gen. Sawyer, at Conference With Officers, Outlines Government Program to Help ex-Service Men

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Federal hospital capacity for a minimum of 32,000 patients, with provisions for 172 employees for each 200 patients, is planned by the government in its hospitalization program for former service men, Brigadier General Sawyer, president of the Hospitalization Board, declared to-day in his opening address to the conference of officers in charge of government hospitals serving veterans of the World War.

The conference, which is to continue through the week, was called by General Sawyer to discuss co-ordinate plans for the operation of Federal medical institutions to provide the best care for all patients in whatever department they are being treated. Nearly a hundred officers from hospitals of the Public Health Service and the medical departments of the army and navy were ordered to attend.

"Today," General Sawyer said, "there are being hospitalized, under government control, in Federal hospitals 22,440 World War veterans, who are distributed among the various departments as follows: Public Health Service, 14,273; army hospitals, 1,681; navy hospitals, 1,959; soldiers' home hospitals, 2,500; and Interior Department hospitals, 827."

In order to standardize the operation of government hospitals, it has been decided that there should be one doctor for every 20 patients, one nurse for every 10 patients, one occupational therapist for every 20, one social worker for every 50, fourteen vocational trainers and assistants for every hospital of 200 patients, and 150 additional employees for each such hospital."

General Sawyer called upon the medical officers to give the veteran patients the best that was in them professionally and administratively and carry out the highest ideals of loyalty to the country and their service.

Harding Finds Excessive Demand for Hospitals

Statement Made Soldiers' Infirmaries Would Not Land if All Pleas Were Granted

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—If the President built hospitals for disabled soldiers as fast and as frequently as the advocates of such buildings ask for them the country would be dotted with hospital monuments attesting the folly of such a program, it was learned at the White House to-day.

The President himself authorized the

String of Pearls To Be Gift Of Viscount to Princess Mary

From The Tribune's European Bureau

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Viscount Lascelles, who will marry Princess Mary here late in February, will give his bride a string of pearls, it was learned to-day. The wedding present from the bridegroom's parents will be a diamond brooch.

Owing to the fact that Princess Mary doesn't have much jewelry, she is selecting some of the personal ornaments that are to be given her by friends and public bodies. One of the things that she is particularly anxious to possess is a dessert service of gold plates that formerly belonged to George I and is stamped with the royal crest and motto. This service is now for sale and it is understood that it will be bought and presented to the bride as a gift.

The princess also is giving her personal attention to the furnishing of the four rooms in Chesterfield House which will be the future home of the pair.
